

SLING RANGE

Our range of slings are designed with many specific features aimed at meeting numerous lifting requirements and applications. One key feature of the slings we offer is the embroidered label.

Why embroidered label?

It is a legal requirement in the industry that each sling carries its own identification number as well as the following essential information:

- Model reference number
- Image identification
- Sling type
- Size
- All testing and certification marks
- Manufactured date
- SWL maximum load
- Barcode
- Inspection label
- Individual barcode, serial and batch number

If the sling loses its label, or the label can no longer be read due to fading, the sling should not be used. We are now able to offer a sling range that has embroidered labels containing all the vital information. Embroidered labels ensure that there is no chance of fading over time, thus greatly increasing the longevity of the sling.
